At our Theater Arts workshops, you will:

- Take part in physical/vocal warm-ups, improvisation and theater games.
- Interact with other prospective drama students, talk about career opportunities with professional actors and learn more about our unique program.
- Take the stage and play a part in a short scene alongside an accomplished Broadway actor.
- Meet individually with a member of FDU's theater faculty — all active and practicing theater professionals.
- Receive a professional critique of your own two-minute monologue, which you will select and practice in advance of the workshop.

Five things that set FDU's Theater Program apart

1. Study with practicing theater professionals in all areas.
2. Spend a semester at FDU's own campus in Wroxtton, England, just 17 miles from Stratford-on-Avon, home of the Royal Shakespeare Company.
3. Attend classes just 45 minutes from the heart of New York City, theater capital of the world, with opportunities to intern at prominent arts organizations.
4. Gain on-camera experience in association with our thriving film and television programs plus the opportunity to audition for numerous student and professional films.
5. Participate in our multiple main stage productions each year, all directed by professional directors. In addition to Once In a Lifetime, our 2009–10 productions include Sweet Charity and Whose Life Is It Anyway?

Students who've attended these workshops say:

"A great program ... very fun and informative."

"I loved the program. It gets you involved and you get to know the teachers."

"The program was truly wonderful! The theater content was phenomenal as were the guest actors."
