DEGREE CANDIDATES

College at Florham degree candidates, see page 11.
Metropolitan Campus degree candidates, see page 21.
FDU-Vancouver degree candidates, see page 39.
See page 40 for arena seating plan.

Note: An undergraduate student whose cumulative grade point ratio (CGPR) for four years is 3.85 will receive his or her degree summa cum laude; if the CGPR is 3.67, magna cum laude; if the CGPR is 3.33, cum laude. Only weighted grades will be included in computing honors. Only the credits taken at Fairleigh Dickinson University, a minimum of 54 credits, will be used in this evaluation. These criteria apply to all undergraduate students entering the University as of August/September 2006. Students enrolled prior to August/September 2006 will continue to be evaluated under the criteria of the policy in effect when they enrolled.

Due to time constraints associated with the printing of the programs, the honors listed therein were determined as of the end of the fall semester. The final listing for the commencement period will include those honors earned as of the completion of the spring semester, and diplomas will reflect this achievement.

This program does not represent an official list of certified graduates.
Robert Menendez
Doctor of Humane Letters

Growing up poor in Union City, N.J., you dreamed of being a senator and learned early on the importance of fighting for your beliefs. When teachers required you to buy extra books for your high school honors classes — something your Cuban immigrant parents could not afford — you saw the unfair burden it created for disadvantaged students and their families and quietly vowed to change the rules.

You also quickly understood the difference a single person can make. While in college, you launched a successful petition to reform your local school board and soon after became a school board member. At 32, you became Union City’s mayor — and later served simultaneously as its mayor and a state legislator. In 1992, you were elected to Congress, where you made history as the first Hispanic to hold a leadership position.

In 2005, newly elected New Jersey Governor Jon Corzine appointed you to fill his Senate seat, saying you have “real character to take tough positions, to stand up for what you believe in … and be a great legislator.” Elected to a full six-year term by your constituents a year later, you have emerged as one of our country’s most influential political powers as head of the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee.

In Washington, you have steadfastly fought for your beliefs, no matter how powerful the opposition. You have been the Democratic Party’s conscience on immigration and made health care a top priority. You have been an advocate for education and a respected voice on issues ranging from foreign affairs to transportation and the environment.

At FDU, we applaud your efforts to reform our schools and ensure educational access for students of all backgrounds. We are particularly grateful for the lives you have enriched at our University through your support of innovative initiatives such as our Latino Promise Program, online learning for National Guard members and Cyber Crime Training Lab.

As the leader in global education, Fairleigh Dickinson also recognizes you for promoting the contributions every culture has to offer as part of the growing diversity that defines New Jersey.

Therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Board of Trustees of Fairleigh Dickinson University, I hereby confer upon you the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa, with all the rights, privileges and responsibilities thereunto attached, and cause you to be invested with the hood appropriate to that degree.

Lucio C. Tan
Doctor of Humane Letters

Your career is a case study of self-made business success, blending strategy, innovation and technology to rise from humble beginnings to the elite ranks of the world’s wealthiest executives.

Today, in your adopted homeland of the Philippines, you are among the country’s best-known figures — admired for your outstanding contributions to commerce, the community and the advancement of education.

Beginning with your earliest endeavors, you have faithfully integrated the principles of personal and corporate responsibility into all you do. The teachings of Confucius guide your actions, starting with this Golden Rule: “What you do not wish for yourself, do not do to others.”

Here are the qualities for which you are known: Where you see opportunity, you move swiftly to realize its potential. Where you see talent, you patiently nurture its growth. And where you see heart-wrenching need, you quietly provide generous — and often life-saving — support.

The Lucio Tan Group today is a global business empire of diverse enterprises with more than 50,000 employees. More than once, you have lent your support to organizations left to fail by others, including Philippine Airlines, now a national icon of Filipino hospitality, service and safety.

You count among your greatest treasures the University of the East, which provides educational access and opportunity to more than 25,000 deserving students. For many of them, it represents their best chance for a promising future.

For your personal humility and high standards of professional performance, for your lifelong commitment to education, and for your tireless efforts to enrich the lives and livelihoods of men, women and children throughout the Philippines and your native country of China through the generation of jobs, construction of schools and hospitals, and more, it is our privilege to welcome you to the Fairleigh Dickinson University family.

Therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Board of Trustees of Fairleigh Dickinson University, I hereby confer upon you the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa, with all the rights, privileges and responsibilities thereunto attached, and cause you to be invested with the hood appropriate to that degree.
Meghan Theresa Droge
*Student Pinnacle Award
College at Florham*

Meghan Droge entered Fairleigh Dickinson University focused mainly on excelling as a volleyball player. But at the College at Florham, she succeeded at a wide range of pursuits: academic interests, writing and editing positions and service projects as well as sports. Droge, of North Merrick, N.Y., is graduating with a B.A. degree in English literature and minors in legal studies and humanities, taking with her a slew of athletic and scholarly awards. Droge shines in so many areas, in fact, that one of her few remaining challenges is to pick a field — journalism and teaching are leading candidates — for graduate school.

Droge was a four-year starter for the Division III Devils women's volleyball team, playing right side and serving as team captain for her last two seasons. She was an All-Conference player for the Middle Atlantic Conference in 2008 and 2009, winning the conference Sportsmanship Award for those years as well. In February, Droge represented Fairleigh Dickinson University in receiving a "Woman of the Year Award" from the New Jersey Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women.

Droge spent spring semester of her sophomore year at FDU's Wroxton College. She belonged to several English honor societies and was president of the Fairleigh Dickinson University chapter of Sigma Tau Delta International English Honor Society. Under her leadership, Sigma Tau Delta dramatically increased its membership and activity, conducting career events such as a trip to a New York City publisher, service projects that included reading to children at local libraries and book drives. Droge has also been a resident assistant since her junior year.

Throughout her undergraduate years, Droge found jobs and internships related to her career and athletic interests. The past two summers she has worked for AAA New York in Garden City as an editorial Web assistant, proofreading and contributing to online articles. After volunteering at FDU Press, she successfully proposed a for-credit publishing internship there, where she updated the website and conducted author interviews. During football training season, Droge helped staff events at the New York Jets' facility in Florham Park near campus.

Her FDU academic awards include the Lester Robert Dunham Award given to an outstanding student in the final year of literary study in the department of literature, language, writing and philosophy. Droge also won the Outstanding Academic Achievement in Literature Award in 2010, and she has been on the Dean's List every semester.

Gerardo H. Nunez
*Student Pinnacle Award
Metropolitan Campus*

From early on, Gerardo Nunez has been fascinated with growing plants. By age 5, he was planting seeds and trying to grow corn in his urban backyard in Quito, Ecuador. His scientific bent eventually led him to Fairleigh Dickinson University, where he turned his interest in horticulture into an impressive research project and is graduating with a bachelor's degree in biology. Nunez has shown such promise in his field, in fact, that two U.S. universities have offered him a full scholarship leading to a Ph.D. in horticulture.

But Nunez is far from one-dimensional: With a minor in business management, he led one of the University's largest student organizations, Business Leaders of Tomorrow, in his junior year, then followed that as president of the FDU Green Team. During his tenure, the Green Team joined with the faculty-staff Green Campus Committee to renovate the campus's 50-year-old greenhouse. Now the greenhouse is being used for enhancing campus landscaping and research — including Nunez's own senior thesis project on a way to improve a species of exotic wild strawberry that has potential as a commercial crop.

As FDU Green Team president, he also helped to plan the University's first Earth Day celebration with the Hackensack Riverkeeper and the Teaneck Creek Conservancy in April 2009 along with other campus groups. The second FDU Earth Day celebration, held April 20, was even bigger, with a river cleanup, music, student posters and a dozen vendors.

Nunez has also been a senator in the Student Government Association and a resident assistant for the past two years. He participated in Alternative Spring Break activities for two years, helping build homes for underprivileged families in Pittsburgh, Pa., and Miami, Fla. Under his leadership, Business Leaders of Tomorrow increased its community service focus, participating in Sleep Outs to raise awareness of the homeless, fundraisers for U.N. food programs and local Habitat for Humanity projects.

Nunez has also been involved with the Sands of Time: Exposure to Greatness Program since its inception. His academic achievements include presenting scientific papers at the annual Northeast Regional Honors Council conference for the last three years and the 12th Annual Student Research Symposium of the Hudson-Bergen Chemical Society. A member of the University Honors Program, Nunez has made the Dean's List every semester, and he was awarded a Colonel Fairleigh S. Dickinson Scholarship as well as Campus Service and Student Affairs grants.

THE PRESIDENT

Widely known for his commitment to international education and to fostering cross-cultural understanding, J. Michael Adams joined Fairleigh Dickinson University as president on July 1, 1999.

At the University, he has inspired a new mission building on long-standing traditions. The mission — to prepare world citizens through global education — was adopted by the Board of Trustees and endorsed by the faculty in 2000. Since then, Adams has led the development of numerous initiatives designed to integrate the global mission throughout the University.

Prior to joining FDU, Adams served 15 years as academic dean of the Nesbitt College of Design Arts at Drexel University in Philadelphia, Pa. Adams led the transformation of Nesbitt College into one of the premier design schools in the United States.

He went to Drexel from the State University of New York at Oswego, where he served as chair of the department of industrial technology and professor of education. Adams also held positions as director of research development (1979 to 1981) and dean of the alumni college (1982 to 1984). From 1975 to 1976, he served as U.S. Congressional Fellow.

The author of nine books, Adams’ publications and research cover a wide variety of topics including print, publishing, communication and career development as well as topics specific to higher education. His most recent book, Coming of Age in a Globalized World: The Next Generation, explores the impact of globalization and examines the case for world citizenship through global education.

Adams is active with many national and international education organizations. In 2008, he was named president-elect of the International Association of University Presidents (IAUP). He is chair of the IAUP North American Council and is an IAUP representative to the United Nations. He also serves on the U.N./IAUP Commission on Disarmament Education, Conflict Resolution and Peace and is a National Council member of the United Nations Association of the United States of America. Adams also is a member of the Steering Committee of the World Bank’s Researchers Alliance for Development and the Editorial Advisory Board for...
International Educator, the flagship bimonthly magazine of NAFSA: Association of International Educators.

Adams holds a B.S. from Illinois State University, Normal; an M.S. from University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign; and a Ph.D. from Southern Illinois University, Carbondale. In 1997, he attended Harvard University’s Institute for Educational Management and, in 1999, Harvard’s Institute for New Presidents.

THE UNIVERSITY

Fairleigh Dickinson University looks back with tremendous pride to the accomplishments achieved and looks ahead to even greater levels of excellence.

Founded in 1942 by Dr. Peter Sammartino and his wife, Sylvia (Sally), Fairleigh Dickinson University has grown into the largest private university in New Jersey. More than 12,000 students from 41 states and 83 other countries are enrolled on the FDU’s two campuses in New Jersey and its overseas campuses in Wroxton, England, and Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada.

Beginning as a two-year junior college in Rutherford, today the University offers nearly 100 degree programs at the associate, baccalaureate, master’s and doctoral levels. Fairleigh Dickinson University strongly emphasizes an international component to its curriculum and provides its students with a global and multicultural perspective.

The University has consistently been an innovator, adapting to the changing educational demands of the students it serves. Responding to the need for higher education in northern New Jersey, the college expanded to a four-year curricula in 1948.

In 1954, the first graduate program — a master’s degree in business administration — was offered, and Bergen Junior College in Teaneck was purchased as a second campus. In 1956, Fairleigh Dickinson attained university status. One year later, the beautiful 178-acre Vanderbilt-Twombly estate in Florham Park and Madison, New Jersey, was acquired to serve as another campus.

FDU became the first American university to own a campus in England when it acquired Wroxton College from Trinity College, Oxford University. Opened in 1965, Wroxton College offers American students an array of graduate and undergraduate programs as well as an enriching cultural experience. Formerly a 13th-century abbey, Wroxton College is now a beautifully restored and modernized Jacobean mansion.

Established in 1998, the Anthony J. Petrocelli College of Continuing Studies addresses the special educational needs of nontraditional students, including adult learners.

Over the years Fairleigh Dickinson University has maintained its commitment to broadening global horizons and fostering greater international understanding. In 2000, the Board of Trustees adopted a newly focused mission for FDU: to prepare students for world citizenship through global education.

In addition to Wroxton College, the University opened its second international campus in Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada, in fall 2007.

Each of the University campuses has developed a unique character and vitality. The Metropolitan Campus, located in Teaneck, features a university atmosphere with an international perspective attracting nearly equal numbers of graduate and undergraduate students from throughout the United States and around the world. Fairleigh Dickinson’s College at Florham in suburban Madison offers a classical undergraduate and graduate experience for the contemporary world in a small college setting.

With the depth and breadth of its faculty and programs, Fairleigh Dickinson University has positioned itself as a quality, comprehensive private university serving the citizens of New Jersey and beyond.

CLASS OF 1960

The Fairleigh Dickinson University community is pleased to acknowledge and congratulate members of the class of 1960 as they celebrate a milestone this year — the 50th anniversary of their graduation.

TRADITIONALLY…

Traditions link the present to the past and the future. In addition to the academic customs exhibited in the Commencement ceremony, Fairleigh Dickinson University has several unique traditions on display today.

At Fairleigh Dickinson, the academic procession includes the bagpipers, a practice dating back to the University’s eighth commencement in 1951. Since then, it has become a tradition at graduation and other ceremonies for the pipers to play.

Other traditions recognize Fairleigh Dickinson University’s global and multicultural background. International flags have become a part of many ceremonies and events. Whenever a spiritual thought is appropriate, a diversity of views is presented. In addition to the singing of the “Alma Mater,” the University has returned to a tradition established by its founder, Peter Sammartino, of having all join in the singing of the time-honored “Auld Lang Syne.”

THE ACADEMIC COSTUME

The academic regalia worn by University officials and faculty at today’s commencement ceremony are infrequently seen outside of formal academic occasions. The gowns, caps and hoods once were the regular apparel of European university students and faculty during the Middle Ages. At that time, both faculty and students were considered part of the clergy and were required to don the ecclesiastical dress, roba and caputum, patterned after the habit of the Benedictine Order. The regalia also served a practical purpose, providing warmth in the unheated stone buildings of most medieval universities.

In the United States, caps and gowns had been in limited use by colleges and universities since Colonial times. It was not until a century later that a widespread student move-
The Hoods

The most distinctive feature of academic attire, the hood lends color and definition to academic ceremonies. Once used as a head covering, a shoulder cape and even a receptacle for collecting alms in medieval times, the hood is now a purely ceremonial black shell of varying sizes and colored borders suspended from the shoulders and worn down the back.

The significance of academic hoods is symbolized in their varying lengths, and the colors and thicknesses of their velvet linings and trim. The bachelor's hood, for example, is three feet long with a two-inch-wide velvet border. Master's degree recipients wear a hood three-and-a-half feet long with a three-inch border. Doctoral hoods are four feet long and have a five-inch-wide border.

More distinctive, however, are the colors of the hoods' inner linings and outer trim. The colors of the inner lining correspond to the colors of the institution conferring the degree, while the colors of the border designate the academic discipline in which the degree was granted. A representative listing includes:

The Mace

The mace, a traditional symbol of authority, is carried in the academic procession by the grand marshal. The Fairleigh Dickinson University mace was presented to the University in 1957 by Mr. and Mrs. Leo Pollak of New York City. It is one of only three maces of its type in the United States and was purchased for the University from Seymour B. Wyler, author of The Book of Sheffield Plate and The Book of Old Silver.

A very rare example of 18th-century Sheffield plate, it was made in 1765 for the Riddell family and bears its crest. A member of that family was an English representative to the Holland town of Duysberg.

THE PRESIDENT'S MEDALLION

Along with the traditional academic regalia and trappings common to colleges and universities throughout the United States, most institutions also possess some unique or distinctive symbol of the presidential office that is conveyed through succeeding administrations. Fairleigh Dickinson University commissioned the design and crafting of a President's Medallion for the inauguration of Robert H. Donaldson on March 29, 1985.

The President’s Medallion is in the form of a hexagonal shield, a variation of the University “Shield of Arms.” In the center of the Medallion is the gold-plated coat of arms. The motto, Fortiter et Suaeviter (Bravely and Pleasurably), is engraved above the shield, and around it are engraved the words “Fairleigh Dickinson University 1942.” The gold-plated frame of the Medallion is surmounted by a crest consisting of buildings symbolizing the campuses.

Kurt J. Marzdorf, professor of gold and silversmithing emeritus at the State University of New York, College at New Paltz, and internationally known for his ceremonial and religious silver, designed and created the President's Medallion.

ALMA MATER

Goodhart-Davis

Praise to thee, O Alma Mater, faithfully we sing,
Hear our joyful voices ringing, Fairleigh Dickinson.
Campus halls, that oft recall us, memories will bring,
Campus lights will ever guide us, when the day is done.

Chorus

Alma Mater, we will cherish each day of the years
We were privileged to spend here, tho’ our parting nears.

AULD LANG SYNE

Should auld acquaintance be forgot,
And never brought to mind?
Should auld acquaintance be forgot,
And days of auld lang syne?
For auld lang syne, my dear,
For auld lang syne.
We'll take a cup of kindness yet,
For auld lang syne.
