The Wroxton Experience.

Your Gateway to the World.

Begin the journey of a lifetime at Wroxton College in England. Reside and study in a 400-year-old mansion surrounded by the rolling hills and thatched-roof cottages of England's bucolic Cotswolds. Enjoy profound educational offerings, exciting recreational and cultural excursions and the special friendships forged in such an environment.

Wroxton alumni call it the "Wroxton Experience"—a life-changing adventure that will increase your understanding of the world and take your academic game to a new level. As one alumnus said, "It was the highlight of my life. In no other time or place have I learned, grown and been exposed to so much."

Education—With a Focus on Britain and Europe

Wroxton College offers courses in English literature, theater and drama, economics, business, history, political science, fine arts, sociology, communications, psychology, social policy and cross-cultural perspectives. Students can also pursue independent studies in any subject within the expertise of the Wroxton faculty.

"I chose to go to FDU because of Wroxton. I haven't been disappointed—I loved being immersed in the history and unique culture of England."
—Candice Duckworth, history major

A Location in the Heart of England

- 3 miles from Banbury, England, a bustling market town with shops, pubs, clubs, galleries, museums, music venues and theaters.
- 15 miles from Stratford-upon-Avon, birthplace of William Shakespeare and home of the Royal Shakespeare Company theaters.
- 26 miles from Oxford and 75 miles—little more than an hour's train ride—from London.

The Abbey—Not Your Typical College Dorm

Students live and study in Wroxton Abbey, surrounded by 56 acres of lawns, lakes and woodlands. This 17th-century Jacobean mansion, parts of which date back to 1217, has been completely renovated and modernized. Accommodations include single and double rooms, each with a private bathroom.
