James G. Almeida, Interim Dean

The Silberman College of Business is accredited by AACSB International - The Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business. AACSB is the premier business school accrediting body.

Silberman College is a tricampus college of the University, offering graduate programs at the Florham Campus, Madison, New Jersey, and on the Metropolitan Campus, Teaneck, New Jersey. Its major goal at the graduate level is to develop the analytical ability and perspective of the graduate student in order to contribute to success as a responsible executive.

The College, a community of committed educators, administrators and staff, has as its mission to instill in its students a superior level of business-management competence by offering distinctive programs that blend academic excellence and practical business knowledge with a global multicultural orientation.

The College aims to achieve recognition as a leading provider of high-quality, innovative education in business administration and as a leader in the enhancement of the practice of business management through the applied research and professional activities of the faculty.

The College achieves its mission through:

- Curricula that are directed to the educational growth of students and are responsive to the needs of the business community,
- Teaching excellence in all programs,
- Research capabilities that advance the practice of business management and
- Close ties with the business community served by the College.

The College includes several institutes to support graduate business education. The Rothman Institute of Innovation and Entrepreneurship provides students with cross-disciplinary opportunities to explore the meaning and process of capitalism and free enterprise in the nation's economy.

The Anthony J. Petrocelli College of Continuing Studies, formerly known as New College of General and Continuing Studies, offers adult learners a convenient and flexible program for their special educational needs.

Recognizing that the student profile on most U.S. campuses is changing dramatically, the University's Petrocelli College was introduced to provide a unified approach and enhanced focus on the adult learner and to continue to position FDU as a leader in providing learning opportunities in a strong academic foundation for students of all ages.

The College features programs integral to the University's commitment to serve "lifelong learners." These include seven graduate degree programs and postbaccalaureate education and nondegree programs, with many credit, noncredit and certification options. In addition, Petrocelli College features precollege programs and two- and four-year undergraduate degree offerings for adults. For the financial planning certificate program, the paralegal studies program and other continuing education programs go to <http://view2.fdu.edu/academics/continuing-education/>.

In conjunction with the other colleges, Petrocelli College also is heavily involved with distance-learning initiatives, summer- and winter-session programming and the support and development of credit certificate programs.

While based on the Metropolitan Campus, the College offers programs on both New Jersey campuses, at more than 25 offsite locations throughout the state of New Jersey, and at Vancouver Campus, British Columbia, Canada. Courses are offered in formats, at times and in locations convenient for adult learners.

Vicki L. Cohen, Interim Dean

University College: Arts • Sciences • Professional Studies, is committed to educating students for the world.

University College emphasizes professionally accredited and career-oriented programs that prepare future leaders to work effectively in a global environment, regardless of profession. Its wide array of programs is strongly grounded in the liberal arts, recognizing that professionals in all fields require a multidisciplinary and multicultural perspective to be successful. The college also stresses experiential and field-based learning through internships, student-directed research, cooperative education and community service that supplement academic instruction, enhance career-related experiences and develop students' social and moral identities as productive citizens.

The mission of University College is facilitated by its location in northern New Jersey's Bergen County and proximity and ease of access to New York City. Courses and curricula incorporate the unique commercial, scientific and cultural resources of the metropolitan area to create a learning laboratory of exceptional diversity and richness. The resources of this vital cosmopolitan area contribute to all aspects of University College activity and, at the same time, the College maintains a suburban campus atmosphere.

University College offers a wide range of undergraduate and master's degree programs in such areas as psychology, criminal justice, education, the natural sciences, nursing, engineering and technology, computer science, media and communication and the humanities. Many of its schools offer accelerated and combined undergraduate/graduate degree programs as well as special areas of concentration and minors.

University College is organized into schools to be more responsive to student needs. Specifically, there are eight schools within the college:
