Looking to take that next step?

FDU's MPA can help you do it!

Providing the skills and experience you need to advance your career, this programme is perfect for professionals working in the fields of:

GOVERNMENT

NONPROFIT LEADERSHIP

HEALTHCARE MANAGEMENT

TRANSPORTATION AND PUBLIC SERVICES

The School of Public and Global Affairs presents a graduate seminar that explores today's challenges in global crisis management. Learn about the impact of your profession within the complex crisis management system, compare international responses, and how to prepare for potential and unknown disasters.

Live conferenced-sessions are hosted by international leaders in the UK, US and Canada who bring first-hand experience from the New Jersey Regional Homeland Security Technical Committee, UK security and intelligence, the House of Lords, the U.S. Department of Defense, Rio Tinto, clinical governance for NHS and infectious disease management, public and commercial sector change; national emergency medical responses; international policing cooperation; and strategy and risk management in hostile environments.

- Hybrid classes combine live Saturday kickoff, virtual lectures, and transatlantic team collaboration.
- Session I: Policing and Security. 4-week session beginning May 24, 2021. Introduction to Crisis Management; Physical Security and Political Risk; Cyberterrorism and Cybercrime; International Policing Cooperation.
- 14 hours over 4 weeks
- $612 USD
- To apply contact: mpa@wroxtton-college.ac.uk
- Continue on with two more 4-week sessions to earn 3 credits towards your Master of Public Administration (MPA). (Also eligible for elective credit towards: Master of Administrative Science, MS Cyber and Homeland Security, MA Global Affairs)
