Special Project Festival Highlights

On Friday, December 15th, seven students finished their final requirement for graduation from the Master of Hospitality Management Studies program at the Special Project Presentation Festival.

Asrar Ahmed, Ka Wing Wong (Michelle), Maryam Bayatsarmadi, and Paresh Sidhwani (supervised by Dr. Maloud Shakona) presented their project titled: Enhancing Resilience in the Face of Crisis: A Comprehensive Analysis of Risk Management and Strategic Preparedness for Natural Disasters, Epidemics, and Pandemics in the Hospitality and Tourism Industry after Covid-19.

Ria Emmanuella, Geetha Harikrishnan and Parit Siwasilchai (supervised by Dr. Hiran Roy) presented their project titled: Climate Change and the Response of the Food Truck Industry: A Study on Vancouver Visitors' Destination.

We wish all FDU Vancouver graduates success in the future!

Student Holiday Party & Game Night at The Rec Room

On December 5th, the FDUV Hospitality Club with students from the undergraduate Event Technologies class (taught by Dr. Michael Lever) hosted the first ever student Holiday Party & Game Night at The Rec Room in Burnaby.

Over 50 students across all FDU Vancouver programs enjoyed an evening of arcades, pool, and food and drinks. The evening was full of enjoyable activities, and the campus administration has decided to make this an annual event! Congratulations to all involved in executing this wonderful new event for our campus!
