DEGREE CANDIDATES

Florham Campus degree candidates, see page 9.
Metropolitan Campus degree candidates, see page 20.
Vancouver Campus degree candidates, see page 35.

Note: An undergraduate student whose cumulative grade point ratio (CGPR) for four years is 3.85 will receive his or her degree summa cum laude; if the CGPR is 3.67, magna cum laude; if the CGPR is 3.33, cum laude. Only weighted grades will be included in computing honors. Only the credits taken at Fairleigh Dickinson University, a minimum of 54 credits, will be used in this evaluation.

Due to time constraints, the honors listed therein were determined as of the end of the fall semester. The final listing for the commencement period will include those honors earned as of the completion of the spring semester, and diplomas will reflect this achievement.

This program does not represent an official list of certified graduates.

Richard Baratta

Doctor of Fine Arts

Whether you are a passionate cinephile or casual moviegoer, chances are good that your heart has been touched, your perspective broadened or your spirits buoyed by Richard Baratta.

Since landing his first film job in 1984 in Desperately Seeking Susan, Baratta has worked on more than 50 movies. Starting as a location manager and unit production manager, he ultimately progressed to the roles of coproducer and executive producer.

Despite his three decades as a respected Hollywood executive, Baratta's first love — music — remained central in his life. Born in 1950 into a family of music lovers in Poughkeepsie, N.Y., he flirted briefly with the saxophone and flute before deciding drums were the perfect instrument for him. As a teenager, it was jazz, not rock and roll, that ultimately defined his musical style.

After college, Baratta studied with some of the most influential jazz drummers of the time, including Jack DeJohnette, Bob Moses and Steve Haas. He also played gigs in the Catskills — all to prepare for a professional drumming career.

And he succeeded. From 1975 to the early 1980s, Baratta established himself as a gifted studio and band musician in New York City. But the demanding lifestyle and erratic income of a musician wasn't conducive to raising a family, so he made the difficult decision to change career paths — and the rest is Hollywood history.

Baratta's filmography encompasses virtually every cinematic genre — superhero flicks like Dr. Strange and the blockbuster Spider-Man franchise ... romantic comedies like Working Girl and Big ... action thrillers and crime dramas like The Taking of Pelham 123 and Donnie Brasco ... and even a musical, Across the Universe. Many of his films were both financial and critical successes: both Martin Scorsese's The Irishman and Todd Phillips' Joker were nominated for multiple Academy Awards.

Baratta also served as an adviser for Aaron Sorkin's award-winning film The Trial of the Chicago 7. The movie was partially filmed at FDU.

In 2016, Baratta had the opportunity to return to playing drums professionally and never looked back. A resident of Tenafly, N.J., he regularly performs in clubs locally, in New York City and in Washington, D.C.

In 2019, Baratta released Comeback, a live club recording of Latin and jazz. In 2020, Baratta released his first studio-produced album, Music in Film: The Real Deal. It is a celebration of cinema through the lens of jazz — and a fitting tribute to his very eclectic careers.

His good friend, actor Joe Pesci, wrote this of him: "I always knew Richie was a great producer. When I got to sing some jazz numbers with him ... I learned something else. The man is a fantastic jazz drummer and an incredible Latin jazz musician."

THE PRESIDENT

Christopher A. Capuano became the University's eighth president on July 1, 2016, following the retirement of President Sheldon Drucker. Capuano previously held a series of leadership positions at the University over a period of more than 25 years, most recently as University provost and senior vice president for academic affairs.

As the key leader in the development of the University's strategic plan, his main focus is implementing the plan and further raising the University's stature. Among other things, the University under his leadership has created more centers of excellence, embarked on a historic capital campaign and focused greatly on its longstanding goal of fostering greater access and affordability for students from all walks of life.

As University provost, Capuano provided important decision-making in forming a strong leadership team in the School of Pharmacy and Health Sciences, which resulted in consistent enrollment growth and full accreditation with the Accreditation Council for Pharmacy Education. In addition, he was instrumental in securing a large gift to support the University's Daniel and Martina Lewis Center for Healthcare Innovation and Technology.

Prior to becoming University provost and senior vice president for academic affairs, Capuano served as vice provost for international affairs. In that position, he provided oversight of the University's Office of Global Partnerships and worked closely with the University's Office of Global Learning to facilitate study abroad and other international initiatives. Moreover, he led the development of the University's new campus in Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada, and served as the Vancouver Campus provost for a year during a critical transition period.

As director of the School of Psychology for nearly 15 years and a former doctoral faculty member in the University's Ph.D. Program in Clinical Psychology and Psy.D. Program in School Psychology — Capuano provided important leadership in developing the school into one of the largest and more prestigious schools at the University. His many accomplishments in this position included establishment of the postdoctoral certificate program in clinical psychopharmacology and its transition to a postdoctoral Master of Science degree program — a program that has earned national recognition and is currently only one of just a few programs recognized by the American Psychological Association for postdoctoral training in clinical psychopharmacology.

As a former faculty member and biopsychologist by training, Capuano introduced and taught key compulsory courses in both doctoral programs in the School of Psychology. His research included the design, implementation and supervision of experiments in neuropsychopharmacology and health psychology.

Capuano earned his Ph.D. in biopsychology and two master's degrees from the Graduate and University Center of the City University of New York, as well as his B.S. in biological sciences from Purdue University.

Gillian M. Small is the University provost and senior vice president for academic affairs at Fairleigh Dickinson University. She joined FDU in 2016, where, as the chief academic officer, she oversees academic policies and activities University-wide. She leads efforts to support student retention and success and also leads new initiatives, including expanding the University's online programming.

Small previously served as the vice chancellor for research at The City University of New York (CUNY) from 2008 to 2016. As CUNY's senior research officer, she sought to enhance all levels of involvement in research across the university and connect research and scholarly activities with emerging opportunities. She had overall responsibility for supporting the university's intellectual property portfolio, developing relationships with external research organizations, industry, governmental and nongovernmental funding sources and enhancing CUNY's contribution to the economic development of New York City and State.

In her field as a cell and molecular biologist, Small gained a national and international reputation and ran a research group that was funded through federal and private grants for more than 20 years. Born in Great Britain, she arrived in the United States in 1985 to carry out postdoctoral work at Rockefeller University. In 1988, she joined the faculty at the University of Florida and was later an assistant and then associate professor at Mount Sinai School of Medicine in New York. She joined CUNY in 2001 as associate university dean for research and professor of biology. In 2008, following a national search, she was appointed vice chancellor for research at CUNY.

Small received her Ph.D. in the biological sciences in 1983 from Wolverhampton Polytechnic (now university) in England. Her honors include the Feminist Press 2013 award for advancing women in science. In 2015, she was elected to the board of the national Association for Women in Science.

TRADITIONALLY...

Traditions link the present to the past and the future. In addition to the academic customs exhibited in the Commencement ceremony, Fairleigh Dickinson University has several unique traditions on display today.

At Fairleigh Dickinson, the academic processional includes the bagpipers, a practice dating back to the University's eighth commencement in 1951. Since then, it has become a tradition at graduation and other ceremonies for the pipers to play.

Other traditions recognize Fairleigh Dickinson University's global and multicultural background. For example, international flags have become a part of many ceremonies and events.

THE UNIVERSITY

Founded in 1942 by Dr. Peter Sammartino and his wife, Sylvia (Sally), Fairleigh Dickinson University has grown into the largest private university in New Jersey. More than 12,000 students from 44 states and 79 other countries are enrolled on FDU's two campuses in New Jersey and its overseas campuses in Wroxton, England, and Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada.

Beginning as a two-year junior college in Rutherford, today the University offers nearly 100 degree programs at the associate, baccalaureate, master's and doctoral levels. Responding to the need for higher education in northern New Jersey, the college expanded to a four-year curricula in 1948.

In 1954, Bergen Junior College in Teaneck was purchased as a second campus. In 1956, Fairleigh Dickinson attained university status. One year later, the Vanderbilt-Twombly estate in Florham Park and Madison, New Jersey, was acquired to serve as another campus.

FDU became the first American university to own a campus in England when it acquired Wroxton College from Trinity College, Oxford University. Opened in 1965, Wroxton College offers American students an array of graduate and undergraduate programs as well as an enriching cultural experience.

Over the years Fairleigh Dickinson University has maintained its commitment to broadening global horizons and fostering greater international understanding. In 2000, the Board of Trustees adopted a newly focused mission for FDU: "Fairleigh Dickinson University is a center of academic excellence dedicated to the preparation of world citizens through global education. The University strives to provide students with the multidisciplinary, intercultural and ethical understandings necessary to participate, lead and prosper in the global marketplace of ideas, commerce and culture.” The University opened its second international campus in Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada, in fall 2007.

Each of the University campuses has developed a unique character and vitality. The Metropolitan Campus, located in Teaneck, features a university atmosphere with an international perspective attracting nearly equal numbers of graduate and undergraduate students from throughout the United States and around the world. Fairleigh Dickinson’s Florham Campus in suburban Madison offers a classical undergraduate and graduate experience for the contemporary world in a small college setting.

Fairleigh Dickinson University has enjoyed special partnerships with prominent institutions around the globe. For example, the University has been associated with the United Nations since it was founded in 1945 and has earned special designations with the world body that provide unique learning opportunities for students and faculty.

With the depth and breadth of its faculty and programs, Fairleigh Dickinson University has transformed the lives of its students and positioned itself as a quality, comprehensive private university serving the citizens of New Jersey and beyond.

INTERNATIONALLY DIVERSE

In addition to the United States and the U.S. island territories, Fairleigh Dickinson University students hail from a wide cross section of countries including Afghanistan, Albania, Algeria, Antigua, Argentina, Australia, Bangladesh, Barbados, Bhutan, Brazil, British Virgin Islands, Cambodia, Canada, Chile, China, Colombia, Czech Republic, Denmark, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, Egypt, El Salvador, Estonia, Finland, France, Germany, Ghana, Honduras, Hungary, Iceland, India, Indonesia, Iran, Israel, Italy, Jamaica, Japan, Kazakhstan, Kenya, Kuwait, Latvia, Lebanon, Liberia, Lithuania, Macedonia, Malaysia, Mexico, Mongolia, Morocco, Myanmar, Nepal, Netherlands Antilles, Nigeria, Norway, Pakistan, Peru, Philippines, Poland, Portugal, Romania, Russia, Saudi Arabia, Senegal, Serbia, Singapore, South Africa, South Korea, Spain, Sweden, Taiwan, Thailand, Trinidad and Tobago, Ukraine, United Arab Emirates, United Kingdom, Uzbekistan, Venezuela, Vietnam and Zimbabwe.

PILLAR SOCIETY

The Pillar Society was instituted to recognize those exceptional individuals who have made extraordinary contributions to the character and quality of the University, its community and culture. Criteria include serving FDU in a non-faculty role for at least 10 years on a level below the rank of vice president. Recipients are invited to participate in the Commencement ceremony procession.

THE ACADEMIC REGALIA

The academic regalia worn by University officials and faculty at today’s Commencement ceremony are infrequently seen outside of formal academic occasions.

The gowns, caps and hoods once were the regular apparel of European university students and faculty during the Middle Ages.

At that time, both faculty and students were considered part of the clergy and were required to don the ecclesiastical dress, roba and caputum, patterned after the habit of the Benedictine Order.

The regalia also served a practical purpose, providing warmth in the unheated stone buildings of most medieval universities.

In the United States, caps and gowns had been in limited use by colleges and universities since Colonial times. It was not until a century later that a widespread student movement resulted in the formal use of the attire at commencement ceremonies.

Faculty members readily accepted the return to a dignified and traditional dress for graduations and soon extended the custom to other formal academic functions.

By 1895, a uniform code for academic dress had been adopted in the United States, and although no formal worldwide standards have ever existed, certain basic and traditional elements are evident in most academic attire.

The Gowns

Participants in academic ceremonies are expected to wear the regalia to which they are entitled by virtue of the highest degree they hold.

Gowns worn by those with bachelor’s degrees are distinguished by a semi-stiff yoke, long pleated front, intricate shirring across the shoulders and back and long pointed sleeves open at the wrists. The gown must be worn closed.

Master’s degree holders wear a similar gown of either silk or wool with the same yoke effect as the bachelor’s degree robe. The master’s gown may be worn either open or closed in the front.

The doctor’s gown, also worn either open or closed, is usually made of silk and velvet with full and round sleeves open at the wrists. These gowns are distinguished by long velvet panels down the front of the gown and three horizontal velvet sleeve bars, which may be either black or the color distinctive of the academic discipline in which the individual holds the doctoral degree.

Although the color of these gowns is traditionally black, some institutions have adopted robes in their school colors.

The Caps

The most familiar item of academic regalia is the Oxford or mortarboard cap with its distinctive tassel. Explanations of its origin include suggestions that its shape was inspired by the quadrangular Oxford campus or by the actual master workman's mortarboard. Perhaps a more plausible theory is that it was designed flat and about the size of a scholar's book for ease in carrying. Material for most caps varies from serge and broadcloth to rayon and silk, although caps worn by doctoral degree recipients may be of velvet.

The most distinctive feature of the cap is the tassel, which is positioned to hang from the left front quadrant of the cap. The tassel is black for bachelor's and master's degree holders, but gold for Ph.D.s and the primary governing officials of an institution. While the mortarboard cap is used by the vast majority of institutions around the world, some schools have adopted a soft, square-topped cap, but still retain the tassel.

The Hoods

The most distinctive feature of academic attire, the hood lends color and definition to academic ceremonies. Once used as a head covering, a shoulder cape and even a receptacle for collecting alms in medieval times, the hood is now a purely ceremonial black shell of varying sizes and colored borders suspended from the shoulders and worn down the back.

The significance of academic hoods is symbolized in their varying lengths and the colors and thicknesses of their velvet linings and trim. The bachelor's hood, for example, is three feet long with a two-inch-wide velvet border. Master's degree recipients wear a hood three-and-a-half feet long with a three-inch border. Doctoral hoods are four feet long and have a five-inch-wide border.

More distinctive, however, are the colors of the hoods' inner linings and outer trim. The colors of the inner lining correspond to the colors of the institution conferring the degree, while the colors of the border designate the academic discipline in which the degree was granted.

THE MACE

The mace, a traditional symbol of authority, is carried in the academic procession by the grand marshal. The Fairleigh Dickinson University mace was presented to the University in 1957 by Mr. and Mrs. Leo Pollak of New York City. It is one of only three maces of its type in the United States and was purchased for the University from Seymour B. Wyler, author of The Book of Sheffield Plate and The Book of Old Silver.

A very rare example of 18th-century Sheffield plate, it was made in 1765 for the Riddell family and bears its crest. A member of that family was an English representative to the Holland town of Duysberg.

THE PRESIDENT'S MEDALLION

Along with the traditional academic regalia and trappings common to colleges and universities throughout the United States, most institutions also possess some unique or distinctive symbol of the presidential office that is conveyed through succeeding administrations. Fairleigh Dickinson University commissioned the design and crafting of a President's Medallion for the inauguration of Robert H. Donaldson on March 29, 1985.

The President's Medallion is in the form of a hexagonal shield, a variation of the University "Shield of Arms." In the center of the Medallion is the gold-plated coat of arms. The motto, Fortiter et Suaviter (Bravely and Pleasurably), is engraved above the shield, and around it are engraved the words "Fairleigh Dickinson University 1942." The gold-plated frame of the Medallion is surmounted by a crest consisting of buildings symbolizing the campuses.

Kurt J. Matzdorf, professor emeritus of gold and silver-smithing at the State University of New York, College at New Paltz, and internationally known for his ceremonial and religious silver, designed and created the President's Medallion.
