

Ulrich Freer Lab Pubs/Presentations
Student-Mentored Work

- Ulrich, S., & Freer, B. (2020). From the military to college and beyond: Growing a culturally sensitive program to support veteran success. Invited paper. Journal of Clinical Psychology. 76(5). 10.1002/jclp.22925. *Not student-mentored
- Pall, S., Ulrich, S., & Freer, B. (2020). Stigma and Attitudes Towards Seeking Mental Health Services. Poster to be presented at the American Psychological Association Virtual Annual Convention.
- Rosensweig, S.R., Freer, B., & Ulrich, S. (2020). The Relationships between Childhood Trauma, Guilt Proneness and Prosocial Tendencies. Poster to be presented at the American Psychological Association Virtual Annual Convention.
- Rozner, S., Freer, B., & Ulrich, S. (2020). Do veterans see mental illness differently? Comparing veteran and civilian mental illness stigma. Poster to be presented at the American Psychological Association Virtual Annual Convention.
- Scotto, D.M., Freer, B., & Ulrich, S. (2020). Shame as a Mediator for Childhood Trauma and Attitudes Toward Mental Health Services. Poster presented at the Eastern Psychological Association Virtual Meeting.
- Sullivan, N., Freer, B., & Ulrich, S. (2019). Student veterans and adjustment to college: Making meaning of military experiences. Journal of American College Health. 1(10). 10.1080/07448481.2019.1683017. *Not student-mentored
- Rosensweig, S.R., Ulrich, S., & Freer, B. (2019). Shame as a Moderator of Childhood Trauma and Mental Health Help-seeking. Poster presented at the American Psychological Association Annual Convention, Washington, DC.
- Rozner, S., Ulrich, S., & Freer, B. (2019). Does daily stress mediate the relationship between ACEs and empathy? The impact of childhood trauma. Poster presented at the Association of Psychological Science Annual Convention, Chicago, IL.
- Ballas, T., Ulrich, S., & Freer, B. (2018). Help, avoid, or fear? Examining attitudes of veterans about physical and mental health distress. Poster accepted to be presented at the American Psychological Association Annual Convention, San Francisco, California.
- Brown, T.C., Ulrich, S., & Freer, B. (2018). The impact of adverse childhood experiences on prosocial development. Poster accepted to be presented at the American Psychological Association Annual Convention, San Francisco, CA.

- Eyzerovich, E., Freer, B., & Ulrich, S. (2018). Causal attributions: Considering veteran status and ailment description. Poster presented at the Eastern Psychological Association Annual Meeting, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.
- Vogelman, J., Ulrich, S., Freer, B. (2018). The effects of psychiatric problems and veteran status on social distance. Poster accepted to be presented at the Eastern Psychological Association Annual Meeting (not presented due to inclement weather/travel delay), Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.
- Amalfe, S., Free, B., & Ulrich, S. (2017). Shame and guilt: Effects on openness to mental health services and help-seeking propensity. Poster session presented at the American Psychological Association, Washington, DC.
- Eyzerovich, E., Freer, B., & Ulrich, S. (2016). Asking for help: The relationship between gender identity, stigma, and help-seeking propensity. Poster session presented at the American Psychological Association, Denver, Colorado.
- Vogelman, J.S., Ulrich, S., & Freer, B. (2016). Personal stigma and perceived public stigma: the effect of contact with mental health services. Poster session presented at the American Psychological Association, Denver, Colorado.
- Wahba, S., Ulrich, S., & Freer, B. (2016). Correlates and predictors of mental health-related quality of life. Poster session presented at the American Psychological Association, Denver, Colorado.
- DePasquale, A.M., Ulrich, S., & Freer, B. (2016). Stigma inside and out: effects of perceived public and personal stigma on mental illness attribution. Poster session presented at the Association of Psychological Science, Chicago, Illinois.
- Eyzerovich, E., Freer, B., & Ulrich, S. (2016). Open to the possibility: The relationship between gender identity, stigma, and openness to help-seeking. Poster session presented at the Association of Psychological Science, Chicago, Illinois
- DePasquale, A.M., Ulrich, S., & Freer, B. (2015). Depression: What is its role in college student reaction to a hypothetical peer in distress? Poster session presented at the American Psychological Association, Toronto, Canada.
- Winik, A., Freer, B.D., & Ulrich, S. (Manuscript in Preparation). A peer in need: Predicting undergraduate recognition and response to peer depression.
- Magda, L. A., Ulrich, S., & Freer, B. D. (Manuscript in Preparation). Femininity matters: A predictor of mental health help-seeking propensity..
- Magda, L., Ulrich, S., & Freer, B.D. (August, 2014). Beyond sex: Gender qualities and college student help-seeking propensity. Symposium presentation at the American Psychological Association, Washington D.C.

- Sullivan, N., Freer, B.D., & Ulrich, S. (August, 2014). Real or perceived commonality: Predicting an appropriate decision about peer depression. Symposium presentation at the American Psychological Association, Washington, D.C.
- Winik, A., Freer, B.D., & Ulrich, S. (August, 2014). A peer in need: Predicting undergraduate recognition and response to peer depression. Symposium presentation at the American Psychological Association, Washington, D.C.
- Freer, B.D., Ulrich, S., Magda, L., Winik, A., Lowell, A., & Feld, C. (August, 2013). Is male depression under-recognized: Examining the roles played by gender and presentation type. Poster session presented at the American Psychological Association, Hawaii.
- Magda, L., Ulrich, S., & Freer, B.D. (March, 2013). Beyond the obvious: The relationship between psychological history and help-seeking attitudes. Poster session presented at the Eastern Psychological Association, NY.
- Winik, A., Ulrich, S., & Freer, B. D. (March, 2013). College depression: Undergraduate student accurate recognition of and response to peer distress. Poster session presented at the Eastern Psychological Association, NY.
- Lowell, A., Allart, A., Sullivan, N., Freer, B., & Ulrich, S. (June, 2013). Men, be more feminine: The impact of gender and gender qualities on attitudes toward mental health. Poster session presented at New York State Psychological Association, NY.
- Ulrich, S. (June, 2012). Military Culture and Combat to Classroom: Responding to the Needs of Our Student Veterans. Invited training, University of Arizona.
- Ulrich, S., Conway, M., & Feld, C. (August, 2011). A comprehensive survey of college student attitudes toward student veterans. Poster session presented at the American Psychological Association, Washington, D.C.
- Feld, C., Ulrich, S., Conway, M., & Lamade, R. (June, 2011). Are combat veterans coming home to veteran-friendly college campuses? Results of a factor analysis of one comprehensive survey of college student attitudes. Poster presented at the New York State Psychological Association Convention, New York, NY.
- Ulrich, S., & Conway, M. (March, 2011). Psychologically and Culturally Informed Services for Student-Veterans Attending College Poster presented at the Eastern Psychological Association Meeting, Cambridge, MA.
- Ulrich, S. (August, 2011). The development of a single psychological treatment center for combat veterans and families. Poster session presented at the meeting of the American Psychological Association, Washington, D.C.